

There are all organizations. And there is your company.
There are all the opportunities. And there is your future.
There are all the possibilities. And there is your choice.
There are everyone. And there is you.

In an endless of possibilities,
I hug the challenge of casting light
over the potential that resides in each situation,
in each company, in each human being.

I pulse for the exactness of science
and what there is of most humane renews me.

I am the bridge, I co-create routes, shorten paths.

Moves and inspires me the genuine vocation of being the connection between wishes and reality,
between plans and execution,
between possibilities and people.

Beyond the precise method, I employ the persevering search,
the alert hearing, the generous look.

I believe in the propositional intervention,
in the impact that generates value, in the lifelong relationships.

I seek the future, cross time
and make myself recognized by a cordial force of transformation.

I feed and am, in essence, the certainty that each one is a sovereign protagonist of their history:
for a being of possibilities,

the possibility of being.

For all that, I am Dasein.
